miss_nataliaaa @burdenofsanity I want this outfit!

fabletics @jennay930 Apologies for any frustrations. We generally do not restock older styles, but note we do release new styles every 1st of the month. -kf felicia_plunkett @carlh1206 gotta snag them at the first of the month- there's no kind of regret like missing a great outfit!

ovp_tazinobi @ashkaypank same here!!!

Great fit and super comfortable. Lots of compliments on these leggings.

Love the feel of the fabric and has the perfect amount of hold, not a lot of compression. Love the high rise.

✓ Kailey | Verified Purchaser | Size: S | Color: Poppy Field Large | Warrenton, OR

I love these leggings! They are so comfortable that it's almost like I'm not wearing pants at all. They fit & quality is great.

A (Non-Sponsored) Fabletics Review

This honest review of Fabletics is unpaid and unsponsored, including the good, the bad (and one ugly!) of the workout clothes and the service.

Hi! I'm so glad you found your way to my blog! This Fabletics review is one of my most popular posts and since you are likely new here, let me introduce myself. I'm Teri Hutcheon, the blogger behind A Foodie Stays Fit. I love creating healthy, simple recipes that taste amazing and sharing them with friends, family, and YOU, my blog reader! I work full-time as a social media strategist and love having this blog to share my favorite recipes and workouts with others.

Is Kate Hudson's 'Fabletics' A Scam? Unhappy Customers Weigh In

She's getting everyone's sports bra in a twist.

By Jamie Feldman

Over the past few days, Fabletics, the Kate Hudson-fronted athletic apparel website owned by online retail giant Just Fab, has come under fire for claims it is scamming customers into being charged a monthly subscription fee that is difficult to cancel.

A new video from ModaMob (seen here) investigates the accusations, claiming the brand makes canceling "really difficult." It goes on to say that "it has been reported that within the last three years, more than 1,400 Better Business Bureau complaints were filed
